

Our Mission

The Chesterfield Disability Services Board, or CDSB, is a partnership of community volunteers working to educate the public, local businesses and government agencies about the abilities and needs of persons with physical and sensory disabilities, and to present recommendations to meet those needs. The board also links persons with physical and sensory disabilities to available resources and services.

Good access is good business.

Needs of Persons With Physical and Sensory Disabilities in Chesterfield County, Virginia*

Who we are

- We consist of volunteers who are residents of the five county magisterial districts — Bermuda, Clover Hill, Dale, Matoaca, and Midlothian — members-at-large and members from Chesterfield County government and the business community.
- At least 30 percent of our members have a physical and/or sensory disability or have a family member with the same.
- We were established in 1992 as a result of the Beyer Commission and the Americans With Disabilities Act. There are more than 40 disability services boards in Virginia.
- We provide a link to services that give persons with physical and sensory disabilities the opportunity to achieve their goals and gain greater inclusion in day-to-day activities.
